Tilden Ontplays Doyle.
If Murray made an impressive show ing, as much may be said for his leading rival in the tournament, Tilden, who won in straight sets over Connie Doyle, the young crack from Washington. Tilden won by 6-2, 6-1 and 7-5. The lithe young giant from the Signal Corps had fairly easy sailing in the first two sets, but for a few minutes it looked as though Doyle might force him to go four sets, as he led in the third set, 5-2, and had the service when Tilden started his march to victory. He simply let out another notch, and his dazzling speed and remarkable control were too much for the sandy haired chap from the District of Columbia.

MMEDIATELY after the close of the baseball season Charley Rigler, the umpire, will leave for France as an athletic director under the Y. M. C. A. We learned yesterday that Rigler had been sent an invitation to join the Red Triangle forces and that he had replied with his acceptance without even an hour's consideration. The umpire has a wife and two children in Cleveland.

Righer is well fitted for the work, as he has had wide experience not only in baseball but in football, boxing and basketball. He is the first umpire to enter the national service. We understand that other umpires in the major leagues have been sent invitations to join the Y. M. C. A. forces overseas, but thus far they have not replied. Practically all of them have big responsibilities and financial considerations prevent their going

Newport Sallors Protest Title Claim of Great Lakes.

We are in receipt of a protest from the Second Naval district basebal officials, quartered at Newport, R. I. They cannot see why the Great Lakes Naval Station claims the naval championship. Great Lakes some time ago defeated the Atlantic Fleet nine in a series at Chicago, but, the Atlantic Fleet never defeated Newport. The Newport nine is a first class aggregation, with Toots Schultz and Dana Fillingim doing the pitching various other leaguers supporting them.

Thus far there has been no decision of service titles in any branch of sport. Various boxers have laid claim to service hosors, but Dr. Ray-croft is authority for the statement that their claims are without founda-Harry Greb, for one, says he is the middleweight champion of the navy and the army as well because he defeated Eddle McGoorty army. Tom Gibbons of Camp Meade, Mike O'Dowd of the trenches and divers others say otherwise.

Leonard Postpones His Bout With Lewis.

Benny Leonard yesterday postponed his bout with Ted Lewis from September 10 to the 24th. When the original date was set for the encounter Newark Leonard took it for granted that he could get enough training through his exhibitions in the Camp Upton show, "Yip, Yip, Yaphank," but on due consideration he decided that an opponent of Lewis's calibre required his most assiduous attention in preliminary work. Leonard's work in the show will close on September 14 and he will have ten days in which to finish his training.

Leonard might have gone through with the original plan but for opening fracas. This rumor angered Leonard and he told Billy Gibson that he wanted enough training time to put himself in the best possible condition for a knockeut attempt against the champion of the welterweights. Leonard's action will be commended generally, as the boxing public has reason to look with suspicion on men who do their training in theatrical engagements.

Detroit pins its faith on the Miss Detroit III. which was built by popular subscription, the donors to the faud having given sums ranging from $10 to $1,500.

Unusual interest is attached to the Miss Detroit III. because she is pwered with an aviation engine. A twelve cylinder Curtiss, which Glenn Curtiss used in the Miss Miami hydroplane with indifferent success, has been installed in the boat. Smith built a hull around this engine and also adapted the engine, designed for propelling a plane through the water. Smith changed the oiling system throughout and made other changes in the engine that give it ample speed to The East will be represented by the Whip-Po'-Will, owned and driven by Commodore A. L. OLD FEUD IS REVIVED.

Sanders's Generosity With Gausey, Steele and Perritt Un-Passes Pleases Browns, Who-Are Victors by 4 to 2.

The disaster breeding qualities of the base on bails were never more sharply illustrated than in the final game between the Yankees and the Browns yesterday at the Polo Grounds. The Mound Illustrated than in the final game between the Yankees and the Browns yesterday at the Polo Grounds. The Mound City players were victors by 4 to 2.
Sanders, the Yankee hurier, had confused ideas as to the location of the home plate and yielded eight passes to the enemy batters.

Four of these noiseless hits were registered in the third inning, and three of istered in the third inning, and three of the beneficiaries scored runs. As the Yankees collected only two tallies it can be seen that Sanders defeated himself with bases on balls.

Sanders had shown unsteadiness in the second inning, when he issued two passes, but he managed to escape serious damage, as two men were out before he exhibited wildness. He managed to strike out the allitudinous Davenport for But Sanders had a trying time in the third. He passed Tobin, Maisel and Slaler in quick succession, and then man-aged to fan Nunamaker. Johns, however, sent a sharp single to right and Tobin and Maisel raced home. Gedeon was shuffed out at figst on a grounded to Pratt, but Sisier, who had reached third on Johns's hit, sprinted for the plate and beat Fournier's throw. Sanders then resumed his base balls habit and walked Austin.

varied the performance slightly by hit-ting Severeld in the ribs, but ended the inning by striking out Davenport. The big pitcher fanned three times. The Yankees got a run in the fifth on Fournier's single and Hyatt's double.

equal to Task of Stopping Brooklyn Bombardment.

Brooklyn's representatives in the Naof the Battle of Long Island in real were bombarding Steele in the ninth, when Perritt replaced him. Myers, the first to face Perritt, shot out a single that brought Daubert across the plate with the winning run.

Burleigh Grimes, who also was batted hard, managed to last the limit. He was first at bat for Brooklyn in the ninth and started the rally with a single. Johnston retired on a pop fly and Olson was snuffed out on a foul. It looked as though the Giants were about to win a game, the scoring standing 7 to 6 in their favor, but Daubert and Wheat followed with singles and Grimes scored run column, singles by Burns and Young.

Doyle's pass, which filled the bases, foltowed by Fletcher's single and Zim's hit for a base, yielding three runs in the inning with three runs on Olson's double, Daubert's single, Wheat's pass and one basers by O'Mara and Doolan. The Daubert's single.

Dayers took the lead in the fifth, getting a run on Johnston's double and Daubert's single.

The Giants went to the front again in Rauf's long two bagger.

The home guard retorted with one in the same inning on singles by Grimes, Olson and Daubert. The score:
